Try and sell your book.	Character Traits: A character trait is what a character is like on the inside, for example, kind, evil, distracted. Think about the main character in your book. Choose 3 words to describe what that character is like. What are their character traits? Tell why you chose those words.	Setting: Draw a picture of the setting of your story. The setting is where and when the story takes place. If the story happens in more than one place, decide which one seems most important.	Interview: You are a reporter and you are going to interview a character from your story. Write 6 questions for your character using the starters who, what, where, when, why, and how. Write how you think your character would answer your questions.	Retell What Happened: Tell somebody else what happened in your story. Be sure to include who the characters are, where and when the story happened, what happened in the beginning, middle, and end. Use words like first, next, then, finally.

Week 2:

How To Writing

It is important to know how to write directions. Over this week you will practice how to writing. Think of something that you know how to do well. You will be teaching someone how to do that thing. It could be how to brush your teeth, shoot a hockey puck, ride a bike. What are you an expert at? Think about the steps you need to take to complete that task. Draw pictures and write the instructions. Give them to someone else to see if they can follow them. Sometimes it helps if you act it out while you write. Check out the video below to see what happens if your directions aren't clear.
